The Carmel Pine Cone

Editor's Column

For a month I was in a tropical town where for me, the peaceful passage of time was marked by sunrise, sunset and the appearance of the Southern Cross in a starry sky.

Somehow braying burros, crowing roosters, barking dogs, church bells, even skyrocket sent up to announce services by the church without a bell, did not mar the serenity of life.

The slap-slap of clothes being beaten all day against rocks by the washerwomen in the river below the house was a pleasant sound. Soft Jalisco voices blending with mariachi music lulled me to sleep. The raucous sound track of a nearby outdoor movie set up one night did not disturb my rest, neither did the carnival which arrived a few days later.

My days were spent strolling along palm-fringed beaches, swimming in a translucent ocean and basking in the sun.

Monday I came back to work. Almost immediately I was embroiled in an uproar centering about the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department. What a shock!

But I was not the only person shocked to discover that what everyone thought was a splendid community organization was beset by dissatisfaction.

The question uppermost in many citizens' minds this week is: How could such a situation develop without the knowledge of the city council? Surely some rumblings from the fire house must have been heard! Did councilmen prefer to close their ears?

It is to be hoped that, never again, will such a lack of communication between the men of the fire department and the city government be permitted to develop. What has gone on this week has brought no lustre to the name of Carmel.

This city owes a great deal to the men who voluntarily give their time to arduous training; risk danger to fight fires. It is the duty of the city's elected officials to be fully cognizant at all times of any threat to the teamwork which is necessary to maintain our volunteer fire department.

What is now the responsibility of all citizens, the firemen and the council is to look ahead.

We have all learned a lesson... and my vacation seems a long, long time away. M.L.

No. 98

How patiently beside a brook,
Or standing in the surging surf,
The fisherman will bait his hook
As though without a care on earth.
He'll wait for hours and try again,
And cast at ev'ry spot in sight;
Rebait his line and not complain
If fish at times are slow to bite.
At home, in office, shop or store,
He may be cranky, nerves all tense,
And not the same chap anymore,
Which somehow doesn't make much sense.

There's lots of people just like him,
And you and I are not immune.
Our stark approach to work is grim,
With patience sadly out of tune.
This world would be a better place
If only we would see the light,
And just relax with patient grace,
Like waiting for the fish to bite.

Two young Peninsula residents, Dewie Dutton and Marc Ellington, pictured above, will give a concert of folk music on Saturday evening in Sunset School auditorium at 8:30 p.m.

Dewie is the daughter of Mrs. Webster Street of Carmel. A graduate of Carmel High School, she is now a student at Monterey Peninsula College.

Ralph Gleason, San Francisco critic, wrote that Dewie was the "discovery" of the Monterey Folk Festival last year. She lived for some years in Mexico and specializes in the folk songs of that country. Dewie also sang in the Berkeley Folk Festival last summer and during the past year, with Barbara Dean, gave a concert in Pacific Grove.

In May, she and Marc Ellington will work together at the Vancouver Folk Festival.

Marc has been a professional folk singer for three years. He appeared on Johnny Carson's "Tonight" show in New York last summer. One record album of his singing, "I Can't Help But Wonder," has been issued. His music is "people-oriented" and includes some songs of social commentary. This spring he is going on tour and will perform at major colleges on the West Coast. During spring vacation, he will sing in New York.

Marc was born in Massachusetts. His family now lives in Oregon. He attended the University of Oregon and MPC and is still studying, part-time, at the latter school. His mother was a music instructor but Marc maintains he is "self-taught."

The young musician also played the part of a guitar-playing lieutenant of the Union cavalry in the Universal Studios' production of "Shenandoah," which was filmed last summer and is soon to be released. The movie co-starred Douglas McClure and James Stewart.

OFFICIALS RECOVER

Carmel's officialdom can again boast of fine health among all members, with Building Inspector Floyd Adams back on the job and Police Chief Clyde Klauermann returning home today for a final period of recuperation. Both men have been patients in the Community Hospital.

Hope Brightens For New Carmel Police Station

A tiny ray of light penetrated the gloomy prospect for a new police station for Carmel last night when the city council unanimously authorized a civic center site development plan for municipal land on Junipero Street, and added that, if financially feasible, a police station should be built on this property.

This action came after two and a half hours of discussion on the need for a new police station and corporation yard.

Police Commissioner James Buffington and Street Commissioner Stephen Grant, as members of the lands and improvements committee of the council, presented the need for both facilities in a report which gained unanimous acceptance but not full approval.

In addition to the report, Mr. Buffington and Mr. Grant eloquently described the present plight of their respective departments and urged prompt action to remedy what, they consider, are impossible working conditions.

Councilman Gunnar Norberg fought a delaying action all the way. But finally voted with the rest of the council to authorize Burde, Shaw Associates to make a complete site development plan of the 39,500 square feet of land owned by the city between Junipero and Torres Streets above Fifth Avenue. It was his proposal that the "if financially feasible" tag be attached to any construction of a police station.

Police Commissioner Buffington pointed out that the police department presently operates in a less than 600 square foot building. So small is this facility that when a department meeting is held there is not room enough for all members of the force to sit down. In addition, unsafe conditions prevail during the booking, detaining and questioning of suspects and no storage facilities are provided for evidence which must be retained until a case is closed. He estimated that a 3,500 square foot facility was needed for a 14-member police force.

Mr. Buffington vigorously opposed Mr. Norberg's proposal that there is no urgent need for a new station and that a room, or rooms, be added to the present police station. Such a temporary solution would be "a waste of money," Mr. Buffington declared.

He advocated that a new station be built and financed with 25 percent of the city's annual revenue from the hostelry tax at "no cost to property owners."

Street Commissioner Stephen Grant told the council that he and Mr. Buffington had explored seven possible sites for a new corporation yard but none was feasible for various reasons. Therefore, he proposed that the recommendation of the report be accepted. This is that the present senior citizens recreation facilities at Forest Hill Park be moved to unused portions of the Forest Theater property and that Burde, Shaw Associates be authorized to make a site plan (Continued on Page Sixteen)

City Employs Former Fire Chief To Make Survey Of Sunset School

Councilman Gunnar Norberg cast the only dissenting vote last night on the acceptance of the resignation of Fire Chief Robert E. Smith; the appointment of Assistant Chief Raleigh Belvail as acting chief; and the employment of Mr. Smith as a fire safety consultant at a fee of $900 to make a fire safety survey of Sunset School before April 15.

This action came after the council had spent over an hour secluded in executive session while numerous members of the volunteer fire department waited to hear what the council would decide on the matter which has concerned them for a week. At 12:20 a.m. councilmen returned to the council chambers and voted as above.

The decision to accept Mr. Smith's resignation brought an official end to the confusion which has existed since Monday when the public first learned that dissatisfaction about Mr. Smith's operation of the fire department had been expressed by active members of the department.

This morning, Chuck Grimshaw, chairman of the volunteer firemen group, stated that the first and subsequent published reports of what had transpired in the department had been "false" and contained "misinformation."

"The fire department is as strong as it has ever been in its 49 years of existence and is looking forward to its 50th anniversary," he declared.

Other volunteer members of the fire department indicated last night that it had been the wish of their organization to avoid Monday's publicity which led to Mayor Blanks holding a special press conference on Tuesday morning during which he announced the resignation of Mr. Smith and the appointment of Assistant Chief Raleigh Belvail as acting chief.

The dissension in the fire department was brought to his attention last Friday, the Mayor stated. At this time he received a telephone call from Fire Commissioner Eben Whittlesey to the effect that, at a meeting of the (Continued on Page Sixteen)

Carmel's 35th Kite Festival Saturday At Junior High School

Saturday, the annual Carmel Kite Festival will be held at the Carmel Junior High School... that is if the weather is auspicious. It generally has been since kites competed in the first festival in 1931.

The Reverend Willis G. White planned and staged the first festival which was held 34 years ago on March 21.

The entrants gathered at Sunset School then, led by Marshal Gus Englund and Mayor Herbert Heron, paraded down San Carlos Street and along past the Mission to Hatton Fields Mesa, at that time an undeveloped plateau. Kevin Wallace, now a member of the New Yorker magazine editorial staff, won the "best kite" prize. Arline Plein was runner-up.

Sunset School continued to be the meeting place for the parade to the mesa in subsequent years until construction of houses forced the festival to the high school football field. There was always a parade led by city officials until recent years when this part of the festival was abandoned because so many treasured kites were broken when the paraders took to automobiles.

Since the construction of the junior high, the playing field there has been used as it provides lots of scope and plenty of wind.

Saturday, the 1965 festival will start at 1:30 p.m. Rules are the same as they were in 1931—kites must be made by the entrants; each must fly to be eligible for a prize; each kite may be entered in one class only.

The Willis White memorial prize will be awarded to the best international kite. A grand champion prize in memory of Ernest Calley, who showed dozens of boys and girls how to make kites when he was Sunset School's shop instructor, will be awarded.

This year's festival will be co-sponsored by the recreation department of the Carmel Unified School District and the Carmel Lions Club.

Humor-Packed Performance Of 'Caesar And Cleopatra' At Golden Bough Circle Theatre

By LLOYD JENKINS

The Golden Bough Circle Theatre admirably presented "Caesar and Cleopatra" by the late George Bernard Shaw on Friday night. This venerable but highly amusing and dramatic vehicle remains an eternal classic under the finely attuned talents of Director Rosamund Goodrich. The numerous roles are well cast and excellently rehearsed. This reviewer had some misgivings as to the probabilities of such a large, costumed group being able to maneuver on the Circle's intimate stage area. However, designer Rick Beck-Meyer has done a splendid job with full utilization of extended staging not heretofore accomplished on these premises.

Lighting and sound are well handled, respectively, by Charles Richmond Jr. and Reed Putnam. Lucy Page Allen has achieved a noteworthy task as stage manager with unique set changes in subdued light, but more commendable, an unhurried tempo which blends smoothly to the pace of the performance.

Shaw's Caesar, aging and temperate, sly of eye and quick of wit, was fluidly portrayed by C. Winter Van Horn. The character subtleties were poignantly effective in this experienced performers' delivery—a complete enactment.

Youthful Cheri Howell as Cleopatra was, withal, the enchantress, tigress, yet child-queen with womanly attributes. She portrayed a perfectly charming personality with rare beauty and skill to breach the gamut between tyrannical tirades and great dignity. Her bearing complimented her every move—a triumph indeed for one so young.

Supporting roles are by no means relegated to "minor parts" in this epic story by Shaw as he generously padded the ranks with hatred and intrigue between the Roman factions invading the Egyptian lair. The internal strife in Alexandria aligns sister against brother for the throne with adequate despotism backing each. In support of brother Ptolemy, the boy-king, convincingly played by Tim Dahlberg, is Pothinus whose plottings are dutifully set against Caesar's minion Ron Martin as Pothinus, bitterly assails Caesar with the barbs and acrimony that the role demands. His portrayal is most convincing and until his fate is sealed, his command never wavers from authority.

Loel Shuler, as Ftataetea, his counterpart, also shows Shaw's hand at sinister conspiracy. As the aging nurse, she has zealously dominated Cleopatra's life prior to Caesar's clarification of her "queenly" stature in her own household. The loyal Ftataetea begrudgingly recedes to a position of servitude and these vast shadings are brilliantly revealed in this able actress' characterization.

Britannus is the trophy-slave of a former English conquest and the acting secretary to Caesar. His "stiff-upper-lip" belies his staunch British background but he seems to enjoy his enforced servility and is loyal to his chief. This rotund character of wit and humor is richly enjoyable through its enactment by Dick Bird.

As Rufio, Nick Zanides is the "right hand" and warrior-commander of Caesar's forces on this campaign. He brings a lucid, virile dominance to the part well poised with clarity and character delineation.

Frederick Rider, as the doddering Theodotus, tutor to the boy-king, Ptolemy, lends excellent balance with a comic display of concern for the "burning library" of Alexandria while kingdoms hang in the balance... a very enriching display.

Brian Casiday gives a good accounting of Lucius Septimus, the Egyptian commander who sides with Caesar as the inevitable collapse of his forces is imminent, but honorably arrives at the decision with a warrior's composure.

Sam Matar does a superb job as the handsome rug-merchant turned hero. As the Sicilian, Apollodorus, he flamboyantly commands the scenes of action to which Shaw gave charm, a glib tongue, and a charlatan's humor. Swift afoot and likable, he gathers the audience in his palm.

Judy Medany (Iras) and Barbara Shuler (Charmian) are the delightful young handmaidens to Cleopatra, who giggle their way into favor with youth and beauty.

Centurion Terry Poland, Courier Rick Nieto, Slave Wayne Kendall, Sentry Reed Putnam, Porter Harold Johnson and Sally Richard as Nefer are well disciplined and added delights in their respective roles.

The costuming by Jean Cahill is well thought out and colorfully balanced, a really excellent and masterful stroke that enhances the production immeasurably.

Performances of "Caesar and Cleopatra" are to continue Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:30 p.m. through April 18. This reviewer urges you not to miss it.

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL POT LUCK REVUE

The Big Sur Pot Luck Revue, a unique musical and variety show, will present its fourteenth annual production March 25, 26, 27, 28 in the Big Sur Grange Hall.

The revue, which draws upon the talents and creative abilities of the members of the Big Sur community, had its inception in 1952. The Grange needed money to pay off its mortgage. Anne Czerny arranged a pot luck dinner. She asked Gene Perrine and Robert Skiles to plan some entertainment. Starting at 6:30 p.m. everyone sat down to a sumptuous dinner and after dessert came the table clearing, rearranging of seats, donning of costumes and the show, christened the Big Sur Pot Luck Revue, went on.

In April, 1953, there was a second revue with the late Susan Porter in a tableau called "The Tea Party," and Billy Post began his series of clown numbers.

By 1954, the potluck dinner was forgotten. That year there was Heidi Stiller, Helen Morgan-rath and an extravaganza called "Guadalajara." The revue was now a full-length program.

In 1955 K. O. Bengston acted the buck-toothed wife of Walter Trotter's Thor. Esther Ewoldsen perched herself in a champagne glass. The cast had grown and it took two nights to accommodate all who wanted to be entertained.

Next year Charmain Lopes made her debut, Charlotte Brazilsang and Margaret Lial dressed as a clown to sell programs.

1957 brought the rest of the Lopes family, Howard Welch and Eve Miller Ross.

Gene Perrine and Bob Skiles are still "at it," local thespians are still "revue-ing," Mary Fleenor is still backstage commanding her station as stage manager. In the 1959 show she got into the act unexpectedly by parading back and forth across stage, pulling behind her the makeshift curtain, the main one having had an "accident."

Who will be in the cast this year? What's the theme? The locale? Remember it's a POTLUCK REVUE! Tickets for this all-community production may be obtained by telephoning Marty Hartman, Ripplewood Lodge, Big Sur 2525, between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.

During intermission, and before and after shows, there will be refreshments for purchase from the new River Room Kitchen in the Grange Hall.

BIG SUR HOT SPRINGS
"Ethnic Music and Other Sounds" will be the subject of discussion at Big Sur Hot Springs this weekend. The seminar, sponsored by Esalen Institute, will be conducted by Henry Jacobs, co-creator of Vortex and president of Electronic Creative Production. Those attending the seminar, which begins on Friday evening at 9:00 o'clock and concludes on Sunday morning, will have opportunity to listen to recordings taken from Mr. Jacobs' abundant musical collection and to discuss ethnic and electronic music and the relationship of unusual sounds to ordinary perception.

RESOURCE PEOPLE
"We hear much of the resource people we have here in our area and I'm delighted to report that we have one resource person, giving of time and ability right here at Palo Colorado School." These are the enthusiastic words of Mrs. Nancy Bottero, principal and teacher at the one-room school on the Sur Coast at Palo Colorado Canyon.

The "resource person" is Mrs. Betty Parker of Big Sur, wife of Dr. Don H. Parker, author, lecturer and consultant on multilevel curriculum planning. Mrs. Parker, whose career has been teaching, and who now assists her husband in his world-wide work in the educational field, spends two hours each Wednesday and Friday at the school, working with groups in reading and learning development. The "groups" are not selected to work together because of age or grade, but rather because of their ability to work, read and learn together at a certain level. The work is based upon the individual needs of the learner.

Dr. and Mrs. Parker became residents of Big Sur a year and a half ago. Their former home was in Evanston, Illinois.

BUSINESS ASSOCIATION MEETING

The Carmel Business Association will hold a quarterly meeting at Highlands Inn next Thursday at 6:30 p.m.

Guest speaker at the dinner meeting will be Andrew Reinhold of the State Department of Employment, whose subject will be "Disability Insurance Available to Employers and Self-Employed Persons."

Reservations for the event may be made by phoning Mrs. Rosemary Miller, secretary of the association, at 624-2930.

California and will combine business with pleasure in Palm Springs next week. Mr. Lundeen, who was second in sales of life insurance for Metropolitan Life Insurance Company this year, will participate in a five-day business conference with the company's president and other company officers at the Riviera Hotel in the desert resort.

Return From Mexico

Richard Lofton and John P. Gilbert returned this week from a month's trip to Mexico, Dick laden with lots of new paintings and Mr. Gilbert with a photographic record of the tour for his wife.

The pair traveled down the west coast, stopped at Navajao and Alamos, and spent some time in Tepic and nearby San Blas, where the painter Mr. Lofton, found particular inspiration for work. From there they drove into the state of Queretaro and on to Guadalajara, Morelia, and Toluca. They also visited Guanajuato and San Miguel de Allende before doubling back to San Blas for another stay there on their return.

Stanleys In Vallarta

Travelers to the resort of Puerto Vallarta on Mexico's west coast have become about as unique as commuters on Manhattan's 42nd Street subway shuttle line, but that doesn't seem to diminish its popularity. This week Carmel is represented there by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stanley, who flew down on Monday and will spend two weeks in a house they have taken in the village.

Art News

An exhibit of 33 oils and watercolors by the late John O'Shea will open at The Laky Galleries in Carmel on Saturday.

John O'Shea (1881-1956) came to live in Carmel Highlands in 1915, later moved to Pebble Beach and eventually to Carmel.

He was the first president of the Carmel Art Association to preside at its present gallery site and laid out and built the first garden, bringing many of his choicest flowers and shrubs from his Highlands home.

One of his finest paintings "Comida Market Day" will also be included in the exhibit at The Laky Galleries by courtesy of the Harrison Memorial Library. The duration of the O'Shea show will be three weeks, closing on April 14.

Entry blanks are now available for the Manteca Art Association's second annual art exhibition to be held May 7, 8 and 9. Paintings must be submitted by April 25.

Artists from the states of California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Utah, Nevada and Arizona are invited to enter up to three paintings in oil, transparent watercolor, graphics or other media.

Three cash awards and two honorable mentions will be given in each of the categories. Special awards of Best of Show ($100), Purchase Award ($100) and Popular Award ($15) will also be given.

Jury of selection and awards will be Joan Savo, Pacific Grove artist, Dr. Richmond Reynolds, head of the art department at the University of the Pacific, and Francis Woodcock, Oakland artist.

Entry blanks may be obtained by writing to the Manteca Art Exhibition, P.O. Box 61, Manteca, California.

Mrs. Donald E. Fogg, representative of the gallery established recently for the benefit of the Stanford Children's Convalescent Hospital, is in Carmel for ten days to view the work of local artists in the galleries and to search out unknown but competent artists.

The gallery is operated in connection with the Garden Cafe, which is also run for the purpose of raising funds for the hospital, and is located at 1447 Burlingame Avenue in Burlingame. Irene Lagorio is a current exhibitor there.

All proceeds, including commissions on works sold, are donated to the Children's Convalescent Hospital. Local artists who wish to submit work for exhibit may get in touch with Mrs. Fogg at the Garden Cafe Gallery.

The monthly art show at the Carmel Craft Studios will be held on Monday from 3-4 p.m. It is open to all artists and work may be submitted in any medium. Merchandise awards will be made to the winners.

Karen Dawson Engaged

A late summer wedding is being planned by Karen Dawson and Russel Wolter whose engagement was announced this week by Karen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dawson of Carmel Valley.

Karen, whose father is principal of the Carmel Adult School, is a graduate of Carmel High School and Monterey Peninsula College. She is now in her junior year at California Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo. On Monday Karen, in a candlelight ceremony, announced her engagement to her school friends at Jespersen Hall.

She is the sister of Charles L. Dawson of Chico, Dale Dawson of San Francisco, and Darryl and Christine Dawson of Carmel Valley.

Russel, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Luis Wolter, is a member of an old Carmel Valley family. He graduated from Monterey High School and now is farming in the valley. His sisters are Mrs. Donald (Jennie) Luce of Solvang and Mrs. Owen B. (Luciguela) King of Bellevue, Washington, and he has one brother, Luis Wolter II of Carmel Valley.

Award For David Biggs

David Biggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest G. Biggs, is one of two Monterey Peninsula College students to receive a $200 award under the Bank of America's annual Junior College Business Awards program. He is among the 74 northern California students from 37 colleges who will be honored at a banquet on March 18 in the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco. Winners in the bank's program for recognition of promising students preparing for business and secretarial careers are chosen by their school faculties on the basis of scholarship, personality and extra-curricular activities or outside employment.

David, a Carmel High School graduate, is majoring in business administration and plans to continue his studies following graduation from MPC this year.

Steve Grant Honored

For the second consecutive year Carmel City Councilman Stephen Grant has been honored by the Prudential Insurance Co. for his outstanding sales achievements.

A special agent with the company's Monterey office, Mr. Grant has been named a member of the organization's President's Club. A special agent becomes eligible for this elite organization by servicing and selling $1 million of insurance or earning its equivalent in premium within one year.

Naval Wives' Event

The Officers' Wives' Club of the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School will take over the Steinbeck Theater next Thursday at 8 p.m. for a theater party and the viewing of Brigadoon. Hostess group for the social gathering following the film will be the wives of the aeronautical engineering department. Viennese coffee and pastries will be served.

Reservations may be made not later than next Tuesday with Mrs. P. R. Hite (375-8331); cancellations must be made with Mrs. Hite not later than next Wednesday.

Carmel Woman's Club

"Mother's Blue Hen" will be the subject of a book review by Mrs. Sinclair McClellan at the Monday meeting of the Carmel Woman's Club, Mrs. Stanley D. Wilson, chairman of the book section, announces. The book is Sam Anderson's story of his mother's pursuit of antiques, which began with the gift of a blue glass hen.

Hostesses for the tea will be Mrs. F. K. Arthur Jr., Mrs. Irving Merrill and Mrs. Donald Jaques. The tea tables will be presided over by Miss Augusta DeForest, Miss Olive Davey, Mrs. Stephen Olop and Mrs. Elsie Pierre.

Bain Brings Bouquet

Native Carmelite Bain Reamer, now a resident of the Hawaiian Islands, flew home this week to visit his mother, Mrs. George Reamer, and his sister, Mrs. Sarah Elber, also his daughters Lani and Sally. Lani (Mrs. Frank Moeller) and her husband are both students at San Jose State College and Sally is in her second year at Oregon State University.

Bain, an engineer with the U.S. Navy bureau of yards and docks in the Islands, travels throughout the Pacific in his work and most recently has been in the troubled area of Southeast Asia.

He left Honolulu with a collection of wonderful tropical flowers for his mother, but through a mix-up at the San Francisco airport he almost arrived with complete floral arrangements for a wedding. Bain says he thought there seemed to be an awful lot of flower boxes but assumed the airline people knew what they were doing.

However, the excited bearer of the wedding bouquets discovered the error before Bain embarked for Carmel, the airline went into high gear, and the floral offerings were rushed off by plane to Sacramento, where it is to be hoped they arrived in time for the wedding.

Naval Officers Reunion

The tenth year reunion for west coast graduates of the United States Naval Academy class of 1955 will be held the weekend of March 19-21.

On March 21 those who wish to continue festivities will meet for brunch in the morning at the Presidio Officers' Club.

Peninsula members of the class of 1955 who have not yet made their reservations should phone Mrs. Scott Baird, 372-6048.

Mrs. J. D. Aven, coordinator of the reunion, has named as her committee chairmen Mrs. John Roberts, "get-together"; Mrs. B. A. White, golf tournament; Mrs. E. M. Anderson, picnic; Mrs. Robert Davis, dinner-dance; and Mrs. H. K. Biegel, publicity.

John Boit Morse Heads Committee To Elect Ralph B. Atkinson To Monterey Peninsula College Board

John Boit Morse, chairman of the committee to elect Ralph Atkinson of Bixby Creek to the Monterey Peninsula College Board of Trustees, says,

"I'm happy to work for the election of Ralph Atkinson to the MPC Board because I think he is one of the ablest men in a community blessed with able men, first, because of his many years with Eastman Kodak Company and later with scientific research companies he started himself. Mr. Atkinson is above all a businessman, who also knows the importance of excellence in education. This will make him an invaluable member of the board of a college just beginning to develop a many-sided vocational program," Mr. Morse states.

Mr. Morse also calls attention to Mr. Atkinson's many years' experience on the southern California scholarship committee of Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT).

"After graduating from MIT, obtaining his master's degree from Cal Tech and serving on the MIT scholarship committee, Ralph Atkinson has more than ample understanding of college-level students, their needs and their problems, as well as the manpower technician needs of our community in the years just ahead," Mr. Morse declares.

He announces that early endorsers of Mr. Atkinson's candidacy include Nathaniel Owings and Nicholas Roosevelt of Big Sur; Ansel Adams of Carmel Highlands; Dr. Remsen Bird, Colonel Harold Mack and James Van Loben Sels of Carmel; and S.F.B. Morse and Tim Michaud of Pebble Beach.

'Song Of The Hill'

Review by Dora Hagemeyer
A little volume of verse called "Song of the Hill" has come to hand. It is by Edith Lodge, a contributor to the poetry column of the Pine Cone for several years. These selected poems from the work of one of our own writers will interest the reader especially, both because many of them could

BASEBALL VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

Daylight lasts a little longer each day now and the Carmel Little League is looking for volunteers, both fathers and mothers, who are willing to spend time before sunset in getting the baseball diamond and field into shape for the opening of the season. Weekend volunteers are needed, too.

Frank Timmins announces there are opportunities for post hole diggers, painters, cultivators, grass sowers and mowers, water tenders, base and foul line painters, sandwich and coffee makers.

Opportunities are also open for umpires, announcers, scorekeepers, managers and coaches for those who are lured by the more professional aspects of Little League activities.

Anyone interested in helping the 1965 Little League season may get in touch with Mr. Timmins. There will be four categories in Carmel youth baseball this year. They are 14 Little League teams, six Prep League teams, one Babe Ruth League team and one Connie Mack League team. This spread encompasses boys from eight to 18 years of age.

well have been written on our quiet hills, and because of their own worth.

Edith Lodge has "the attentive ear." She is sensitive to all the moods of nature and finds fresh and vivid words with which to communicate them. These poems are "songs for the quiet to hear." Much that is overlooked and unheard in the rush of our busy modern life is here brought to our attention and awareness.

Although not all of the poems will lift the reader beyond the clear picturing of the scene, there are one or two which rise into true realization. Such a poem is "Refiner's Fire," the first few lines of which contain the poet's vision:

"When this green fades
The hidden fire will glow
Fairer than spring's first buds
That flowering of flame,
Sweeter than May
That blossoming of captive sunlight

When the trees stand like good lives,
Wearing sunset . . ."

Edith Lodge is a poetess whose work we are proud to have published first in our poetry column. (Editor's note: Dora Hagemeyer, now Mrs. Louis Mayer, has been a frequent contributor to the Pine Cone over the years and was for many years editor of its poetry column.)

In California,
after golf
beer's the one...
for good taste,
good fun

After a hard-played 18 holes, it's good to settle down on a soft chair in the clubhouse and add up the score with friends. What better time for the drink that scores with almost every golfer—cool, thirst-quenching beer? Yes, beer's great to relax with, great for refreshment, great for taste. So whatever your sport—boating or baseball—swimming or tennis—relax afterwards with the zestful taste of beer.

UNITED STATES BREWERS ASSOCIATION, INC.

Letter To Editor

Carmel, California
Dear Editor: March 4, 1965

I respectfully call your attention to an inaccurate report of my statement to the Carmel City Council relative to The Area Plan which you reported on page one in today's Pine Cone.

At the meeting of the Carmel City Council yesterday, March 3, I stated to the Council during its public hearing on The Area Plan, "I am a strong advocate of local and area planning, as my years of service on the Carmel Planning Commission will attest." Your report quoted me as saying, "Frank Putnam, speaking as a private citizen, definitely opposed any kind of approval of the master plan." I further stated that I was speaking about only one short paragraph of the plan, paragraph 4 on page 14, which recommends the formation of a Conservation District to implement major portions of the plan. I cautioned the Council to carefully consider that such a District would have the power to condemn, to tax and to borrow money; that its tax ceiling could be increased to as much as 50 cents per hundred; that the boundaries of this proposed district, which includes the City of Carmel, have already been approved by the Boundary Commission; that Council approval of this recommendation would tend to influence the Citizens of Carmel to vote in favor of the formation of such a special tax district. Your report stated that I was generally in favor of creation of a conservation district.

You were 180 degrees off course on both statements. I spoke only against increased taxation, and my exact words are a matter of tape recorded public record.

Respectfully yours,
Frank Putnam

Ed note: The Pine Cone regrets its inaccurate report in last week's issue. Harry W. Fletcher, substituting for Marjory Lloyd who was on vacation, covered the council meeting on March 3. To a new reporter, with little background in city affairs, four and one-half hour long council meetings are confusing. This is the only reason that Mr. Putnam, a former Mayor and planning commission chairman who might well be called "Mr. Planner" in Carmel, could be so misquoted. M.L.

Editor:

Matt and I wish to thank you for the wonderful 50th Anniversary Edition of the Pine Cone. We shall keep and cherish the number that Ruth Blanchard thoughtfully sent to us. Happy memories surround the years since 1936 when we bought the Whiffen house in the Eighty Acres. Our daughters attended Sunset School. We are always glad to come home to Carmel after our desert winters.

Congratulations on a fine accomplishment!

Local Surfers Organize Club

Enthusiastic devotees of the sport of surfing last week organized the Monterey Peninsula Surfing Society to provide an opportunity for local surfers to compete with groups in other areas. Directors are John Davidson and Mike O'Malley.

The club plans various activities to raise funds for travel to meets and for the purchase of equipment. The first such activity will be the presentation of a full color surfing adventure film, "The Angry Sea," which will be shown at Pacific Grove Junior High School on March 20 at 8 p.m. Admission is $1.50, and there will be door prizes.

To ensure responsibility and seriousness of purpose, membership will be limited to persons sponsored by a charter member and accepted by vote. However, anyone interested is invited to attend the organizational meetings in progress. They will be held on Wednesdays at 7 p.m. at the residence occupied by John Davidson (Carmelo street, south of Ocean, second house on east side). For further information, please phone 624-1493.

Daisy B. Taylor

Word has been received of the death in Alhambra on February 26 of Mrs. Daisy Beard Taylor, a resident of Carmel from 1924 to 1951, when she left to make her home in Southern California. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Jennie Bickel of Alhambra, and was the widow of Edward Taylor.

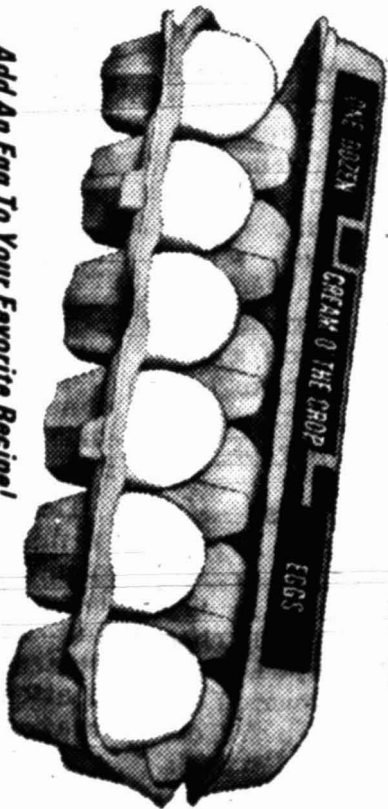

Mrs. Taylor, a native of Corydon, Indiana, had taught for 25 years in teachers colleges and high schools before coming to Carmel, and was for eleven years head of the speech department of State Teachers College at Peru, Indiana. A member of the P.E.O. Sisterhood since 1902, she was a charter member of the Pacific Grove Chapter and helped to organize Chapter NJ of Carmel. She also was among the organizers of the first Carmel Women's Republican Club and the Carmel Red Cross, of which she was chairman in 1933, and served a term on the Carmel School Board of Trustees. Mrs. Taylor was an active member of the Presbyterian Church of Monterey while she lived here and at the time of her death belonged to the congregation of the Calvary Presbyterian Church of South Pasadena, where services were held for her on March 1.

'The Incredible Violist', Rolf Persinger, To Play With Symphony March 23

Rolf Persinger, one of the great present day violists, will appear as soloist with the Monterey County Symphony in Carmel on March 23.

Mr. Persinger will play the beautiful and technically demanding Viola Concerto by Bela Bartok, a work that he will also perform later this season with the San Francisco Symphony.

Although only in his early 40s, his career already includes a rich variety of experience with some of the country's outstanding musical organizations. His performance of the West Coast premiere of Walter Piston's Viola Concerto with the San Francisco Symphony last year was considered by many to be one of the high points of the symphony season, and elicited unanimous critical acclaim. A quotation from the San Francisco Chronicle refers to him as "The Incredible Violist." It goes on to say, "He has a tone of wonderful richness, intensity and glow; musicianship of the kind that compels attention in the simplest things..."

Rolf Persinger has appeared often as viola soloist with the Chicago Symphony, and at the request of Fritz Reiner joined the orchestra as associate solo violist, a post he held for nine seasons. His first symphonic affiliation was with the NBC Symphony in New York, and he has also been active in a number of string groups including the Guilet String Quartet and the Festival String Quartet, which he founded. In recent summers he has played with Pablo Casals at the renowned Casals Festival in San Juan, Puerto Rico. This season marks his second as principal violist with the San Francisco Symphony.

The program, under the direction of conductor John Gosling will also include Overture to "Der Freischuetz" by von Weber, Barber's "First Essay for Orchestra" and Wagner's "Good Friday Spell" from "Parsifal." The March 23 concert at Sunset Auditorium, Carmel will begin at 8:30 p.m. For ticket information contact Symphony Headquarters 624-4125.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE JOURNAL

The parable of the prodigal son is featured in this week's Bible Lesson on "Substance" to be read in Christian Science churches Sunday. Rejoicing to see his son's return, the father said: "For this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found" (Luke 15).

How everyone must eventually find the "substance" of his own life is brought out in the Christian Science textbook: "It is only by acknowledging the supremacy of Spirit, which annuls the claims of matter, that mortals can lay off mortality and find the indissoluble spiritual link which establishes man forever in the divine likeness, inseparable from his creator" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 491).

volunteer members of the department the night before, dissatisfaction with the policies of Chief Smith had been indicated by a number of volunteers. Mr. Whittlesey told the Mayor he was going, immediately, to investigate this situation.

As a result of the investigations, Mr. Blanks and Mr. Whittlesey met with five officers of the department on Monday. They were Assistant Chief Belvall, Captain Jake May, Bob Updike, all volunteers, and two paid firemen, Chuck Grimshaw and Lee McGuckin.

Mayor Blanks in his press conference on Monday stated that at this meeting "A review of the causes of friction as presented by the officers showed that a sufficient number of the department personnel disagreed with the present operating policies of the department to make this a matter of concern."

"Following the meeting with the officers of the department, the Fire Commissioner and I met with Chief Smith. It was his feeling that if any substantial number of the department lacked confidence in him or his policies, that he should submit his resignation. He has submitted his resignation, and I will present it to the Council tomorrow night."

Mayor Blanks emphasized that the dissension was caused by a "personality problem" and there had been "no malfeasance" on the part of Chief Smith.

Apparently reports of the Mayor's statement on the "personality problem" reported in the daily press met with the disapproval of fire department members. Yesterday the Mayor called another press conference. Present at this was Acting Chief Belvall.

The Mayor read to the press the statement below.

"At an informal meeting of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department last night with myself and Fire Commissioner Whittlesey, some twenty-six members of the Department unanimously outlined their position in regard to the resignation of Fire Chief Robert Smith. The members wish it clearly understood that their interest is in the operation of the Department, and that they hold no personal animosity or dislike for Mr. Smith. Their actions have been taken after a vote of the Department. The Department stands together as a group on the decision of the majority. It was made clear that the position of the Volunteer Department relates primarily to dissatisfaction with Mr. Smith's operation of the Department, and not to personality clashes or personal dislikes."

Following is Chief Smith's letter of resignation.

March 8, 1965
Mayor and City Council
City of Carmel-by-the-Sea
Gentlemen:

I regretfully submit my resignation as Fire Chief of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department. It has been a pleasure to work with the various City Councils and the men of the department. I am certain that in the future the department will continue to render good service to the citizens of Carmel and will adequately take care of the fire needs.

Regretfully,
ROBERT E. SMITH

SURFING CONTEST

The city council took no action last night on a request for permission to hold a surfing contest at the foot of Ocean Avenue on March 20. The request came from two members of the Monterey Peninsula Surfing Society, John Davidson and Michael O'Malley, who stated that no more than 100 participants will take part in the all-day competition.

Bacher.

In addition to her husband, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. George Williamson of Chicago, Illinois; a son, F. A. Bacher Jr. of Salinas; and a grandson, Alan Bacher Williamson of Chicago.

Family services for Mrs. Bacher will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, Pacific Grove. Paul Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

Ray Of Hope For New Police Station for a corporation yard on the southerly portion of Forest Hill Park.

This proposal met with opposition from Mr. Norberg. He was unwilling to have land which had been granted to the city for park purposes converted to other uses.

Councilman Eben Whittlesey thought any change in use of the recreation park should meet with the approval of the group now using the recreation facilities. He wanted, also, to be sure that the Forest Theater site could accommodate off-street parking for cars of persons using any facilities developed on theatre land. The legal aspects of converting a part of Forest Hill Park into a corporation yard should be explored by the city attorney, he maintained.

Mr. Whittlesey disagreed with Mr. Norberg's statement that no urgency existed in regard to new corporation yard and police station facilities. "The longer we wait, the greater the need, the more the cost," he said.

Mayor Blanks' concern about the proposed corporation yard site was that it might be noisy and thus offensive to nearby residents. They should be fully consulted, he advised, before further action on this proposal.

Another proposal in Mr. Bufington's and Mr. Grant's report met with opposition from Mr. Norberg. This is that the city hall and police station sites be sold to finance new police station and corporation facilities. He was against selling any land.

"Property in Carmel is going up and up. I am very, very hesitant about disposing of any city-owned properties," he said.

Although Mr. Norberg voted with other councilmen to authorize preparation of a civic center plan, he commented that he did not consider the need for such development of the Junipero property either "urgent or imperative."

Mayor Herbert Blanks ascertained that money to pay for the plan is available. City Clerk Hugh Bacher stated that budgeted hotel tax revenue amounting to $8,000 was left in the architectural and engineering fund.

Walter Burde told the council that the cost of site plans would be eight-tenths of one percent of the cost of buildings which would go on the site, but as the number and type of structures planned was not definite as yet, he could give no closer estimate of the charges his firm would be entitled to make.

Trustees Consider Traffic And Plane Hazards To Students

Is it equitable and fair to provide one elementary student with bus transportation to and from school, but deny the same privilege to another student of the same age group who happens to live across the street? Also, who is to determine that a seventh grade student is more capable of walking two miles to school than a fifth grade student?

These were some of the questions asked last night at the regular meeting of the board of education of the Carmel Unified School District. Considerable concern was expressed regarding the traffic hazards to school children crossing Highway One at Atherton Drive, where, it was stated, the traffic count at the morning peak hour is 1,200 cars.

Voicing protests, among others, were R. A. Roberts and U. B. Holloway, parents of school children subjected to the hazards and discriminations mentioned above. The consensus was that the board should immediately take steps, not only to remove the hazards, or at least remedy them, but also to make the necessary provision so that all students requiring transportation to school be so provided.

Answering these questions, Superintendent Medill Bair stated that, this Fall, he expected that school transportation would be so scheduled and implemented that all students in Hatton Fields and South Carmel Hills would be provided with bus service. The superintendent reported that he has been working intensely on the highway crossing problem, but that, to date, no action has been forthcoming from the California Highway Patrol or the State Highway Department, especially in regard to the installation of a stop light for use during the hours school children must cross this part of the highway.

One of the parents present at the meeting asked if a letter-writing campaign, directed at the proper authority, might not have the effect of bringing pressure to bear on the matter. Mr. Bair agreed that such concerted action might produce the desired result, but was unable to place the finger on who might be the recipient of such proposed avalanche of parent protests.

Another hazardous situation was brought to light by the reading of a letter from a parents' organization in the Tularcitos School area, which drew attention to an airplane landing strip across the road from the Tularcitos school. This air strip is without any controls, it was pointed out, and is being used principally for student-flyer landing and take-off practice, while originally intended as only an emergency landing field. Any misadventure, the letter stated, could very well place the school

Red Cross Drive Totals Reported

Funds collected in the current Red Cross fund drive total $8,463, it was announced this morning.

"We hope this year's Red Cross drive will be particularly successful," says Carl Bosholm, chairman of the Carmel chapter. "When the drama and excitement of any disaster die down, it is easy for us to forget that the work of rehabilitation goes on and there is still a need for help. The second phase of the Red Cross responsibility requires infinite patience as well as experience."

According to figures released to the Carmel chapter, more than 17,000 families on the West Coast suffered great losses in the devastating floods, ranging from "everything we owned" to "water two feet deep in our living room." More than 6,000 of these families are looking to the Red Cross to help them in their efforts to get back to a pre-disaster basis of living, and to re-establish a means of livelihood.

"That is why the Red Cross is still on the job," the chairman and the children in considerable jeopardy. The board promised to investigate this matter at once.

states, "and is making an extra effort to meet its quota during the current drive which started March 1."

The 1965 quota for Carmel is $29,122.00. In spite of many new and expanded services in the past twenty years, the goal indicates that inflation has not affected the Red Cross, as the local goal in the war fund drive of 1945 was only $2,000 less.
